Flux and Java

This section focuses on the programming techniques and APIs that Java developers can use to set up and interact with Flux.

To use the Java APIs, just include flux.jar on your Java class path, along with the support JAR files located in the lib directory under your Flux installation directory. That's it! You're now ready to use the Flux Java APIs.

To view detailed Java API documentation for Flux, see the Flux Javadoc.